EES Scores Proficient

Evarts Middle School received good news in the Kentucky Performance Rating for Educational Progress (K-PREP) test scores. The school is classified as a "Proficient School" based on the middle school scores. Evarts is one of only two schools in the Harlan County Public Schools to score at this level. "I felt like we could be among the top scores in the county," said Principal Burkhart. She attributes the school's success to hard work and dedication from both students and teachers. The teachers expect success from the students and encourages competitive attitudes when taking the K-PREP test. Evarts also scored second highest in the county school system on the EXPLORE test. The EXPLORE test is taken by eighth grade students only. "We pride ourselves in sending students to the High School prepared," said Burkhart.
