

The Harlan County Public Schools recently held the induction ceremony for the 2017 class of the Frank Brittain Academic & Athletic Hall of Fame. Shown below, left to right, are William A. (Bill) Lee, chairman of the hall of fame committee, inductees Jadyn Hughes, Natalie Middleton and Braydan Roark, and Harlan County Schools Superintendent Brent Roark. Inductee Cameron Carmical is not pictured. He was unable to attend the induction due to his participation on the Eastern Kentucky University basketball team

Harlan County Schools Frank Brittain Academic & Athletic Hall of Fame Inductee Jadyn Hughes, left, receives her award from William A. Lee, and Kathie Harris. Hughes is the daughter of James Doyle and Amber Nicole Hughes. Only 29 students have been selected for this honor since the hall of fame was established in 2002.

Harlan County Schools Frank Brittain Academic & Athletic Hall of Fame inductee Natalie Middleton, center, receives her award from William A. Lee, and Chamayne Johnson. Middleton is the daughter of Mary Middleton Garland and the late Roy Middleton. Only 29 students have been selected for this honor since the hall of fame was established in 2002.

Harlan County Schools Frank Brittain Academic & Athletic Hall of Fame Inductee Braydan Roark, center, receives his award from William A. Lee, and Laura Johnson Curry. Roark is the son of Brent and Kristina Roark. Curry was the inaugural inductee to the hall of fame in 2004. Only 29 students have been selected for this honor since the hall of fame was established.