

Mrs. Helton and Mrs. Cottrell's second grade classes answered the essential question, "What are some things families like to do together?" They read about different families and the students created their own family trees.

