

Several Wallins primary teachers recently hosted one (of four throughout the year) Reading/Math night for parents and students K-3. The event was cosponsored by FRYSC and Save the Children program. The theme was Johnny Appleseed. Before the students read the story of Johnny Appleseed and watched a short video, they made kettle-shaped hats with their parents/guardians. Next, they went to 3 different stations which consisted of math games, a literacy room, and a craft room where students made Johnny Appleseed hand puppets. Last, they enjoyed snacks in the cafeteria which included warm apple cider, deconstructed apple pies, apple decorated cupcakes, and a Johnny Appleseed surprise. Save the Children donated a free book to each student and two lucky winners enjoyed two brand new toys. The students went home, "Apple-y ever after".
